Open Educational Resources (OERs)

The IWAC project created two courses: one titled “Introduction to Web Accessibility from a User Perspective” and one titled “Accessible Learning and Teaching”. Evaluation of these courses was done on instances of the non-public Moodle server hosted at the Hochschule der Medien (HdM). Since the non-public Moodle server does not allow self-enrolment, the courses were also copied to a public Moodle server at HdM, where self-enrolment can be enabled. (Without self-enrolment, user registration for a MOOC requires too much administrative overhead.) Below are the links to the MOOCs on the public MOOC server:

- Introduction to Web Accessibility from a User Perspective.

The content in these courses was originally created in English and then translated into the respective languages of the project partners, i.e. German, Italian and Swedish. The German translation was done by the Hochschule der Medien, the Italian translation by the Università degli Studi di Genova and the Swedish translation by Funka.

Both the original resources and their translations are available under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International \(CC BY 4.0\) licence. This means that these resources can be reused and modified, even in a commercial context, but the original author or authors must always be acknowledged.
